2 COURTROOM DEPUTY: Court calls Case No.
3 3:23-cr-30076, the case of the United States of 4 America v. Nirav Patel. Case is called for a 5 sentencing hearing.

6 Parties, if you would please introduce 7 yourselves for the record.

8 MR. REED: Good morning, Judge. Peter
9 Reed and Stephen Weinhoeft for the Government.

10 THE COURT: Good morning.

11 MR. WEINHOEFT: Good morning, Your 12 Honor.

13 THE COURT: Good morning, gentlemen.

14 MS. FRETER: Good morning, Your Honor.
15 Kim Freter for Mr. Patel, who is also present along 16 with the interpreter who we'll have sworn in.

17 THE COURT: Swear in the interpreter,
18 please.

19 (Interpreter sworn.)

20 THE COURT: All right. I see Mr. Patel
21 has his hand up.

22 Mr. Patel, I'll give you a chance to 23 address me in a moment.

24 Does the Government intend to call any 25 witnesses or offer any further evidence in addition

1 to the victim impact statements that I received 2 from some of the victims?

3 MR. REED: No, Judge. The victims have 4 been informed of their right to be here. They wish 5 they could but are not able to, so we will not be 6 calling any witnesses or presenting any additional 7 evidence.

8 THE COURT: All right. Does the defense
9 intend to call any witnesses or offer any evidence?

10 MS. FRETER: Only Mr. Patel, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: He wishes to address the 12 Court?

13 MS. FRETER: Yes, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: All right. Any objection to 15 the pretrial investigative report?

16 MR. REED: No, Judge.

17 MS. FRETER: Your Honor, I did not file
18 any written objections. Mr. Patel has now twice
19 declined to go over the PSR with me. When I review
20 the PSR, I don't find anything objectionable, but I
21 do not have his thoughts and opinions on that, so I 22 wanted to let the Court know.

23 THE COURT: All right. The Court will 24 adopt the presentence investigative report as 25 written. The defendant was found guilty on five

1 counts after trial by jury.

2 Defendant was convicted in Count 1 of 3 conspiracy to commit wire fraud, which has a 4 statutory penalty of not more than 20 years in 5 prison and a fine of up to $250,000.

6 Counts 2, 3, 4, the wire fraud counts,
7 also have a penalty of not more than 20 years'
8 imprisonment and a fine of up to $250,000.

9 Count 5, the illegal entry count, the 10 defendant can be sentenced to no more than 6
11 months' imprisonment and fined no more than $5,000.

12 The guidelines, as calculated by 13 probation, suggest the guideline range with respect 14 to Counts 1 through 4 is 87 months to 108 months.

15 Does the Government agree with that
16 calculation?

17 MR. REED: Yes, Judge.

18 THE COURT: Does defense agree with that
19 calculation?

20 MS. FRETER: Yes, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: All right. And then with 22 respect to the Count 5, there are no applicable 23 guideline range. It just allows the Court to 24 consider the nature of the offense and can sentence 25 a maximum of six months' imprisonment, and that can

1 be either consecutive to or concurrent with the 2 sentences imposed by the Court on Counts 1 through 3 4.

4 Does the Government agree with that?

5 MR. REED: Yes, Judge.

6 THE COURT: Does defense agree with that?

7 MS. FRETER: Yes, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Okay. In addition to 9 considering the advisory guidelines, I'm also to 10 consider other sentencing factors under Section 11 3553(a). I'm directed to impose a sentence that is 12 sufficient, but not greater than necessary, to 13 comply with the purposes of our sentencing goals
14 and criminal justice system.

15 I'm asked to consider the need for the 16 sentence to reflect the seriousness of the crime, 17 to promote respect for the law, to provide just 18 punishment for the offense. The sentence should 19 deter criminal conduct, protect the public from 20 future crimes by this defendant, promote his 21 rehabilitation. I must also consider the nature 22 and circumstances of the offense, the history and 23 characteristics of Mr. Patel, the need to avoid 24 unwarranted sentence disparities among 25 similarly-situated defendants and the types of 1 sentences that are available.

2 At the time of sentencing, I follow a
3 procedure in where I allow the defendant to address
4 the Court, I then allow his lawyer to make 5 argument, I then will allow the Government to make 6 argument, and I will give the defense the last 7 word.

8 But before we get to -- before we get to 9 that, I did want to acknowledge that I had received 10 from Mr. Patel while he was incarcerated a letter 11 dated April the 23rd -- I'm sorry, a letter that we 12 received April 23rd of this year, a one-page letter 13 dated February 14, 2025. It is a handwritten 14 letter. It is written in the English language, and 15 it's signed by Mr. Patel. I have read that. The 16 writing is cursive. Additionally, I received a 17 four-page printed letter purportingly to be from 18 Mr. Patel, and I have reviewed that. There is, 19 finally, a two-page letter signed by Mr. Patel that 20 I received at that same time. This is in cursive
21 writing, and it is in English, so I have reviewed 22 that.

23 I've also received a victim impact
24 statement relating to the victim V.B. that reads as 25 follows:

1           It's hard to put into words what my mother
2           has gone through as a victim of this scam. She 3           honestly believed that she owed money from some 4           sort of mistake and was working with officials to 5           correct the problem. When she found out how she 6           had been taken, she lost trust in institutions that 7           are supposed to protect us. She also was afraid to 8           answer her phone, check her email or answer the 9           door. In short, she was afraid to be alone and had 10          lost confidence in her ability to make decisions 11          for herself.

12           Since then, I have -- since then, I have 13          had to move my mother to a new residence, somewhere 14          she feels safe. We have canceled her phone, 15          changed her email accounts and canceled any credit 16          card that they may have accessed. We have switched 17          banks, put safeguards on all her accounts and 18          frozen her credit to ensure her economic survival.

19           For me -- and this is written by V.B.'s 20          daughter -- this has been a great deal of time 21          spent handling problems. Times that would have 22          gone otherwise into a day out with my mother has 23          been spent on trying to safeguard her, reassure her 24          and manage problems that keep popping up as a 25          result of this scam.

1           The damage done was more than just a loss
2 of money. My mother went from a happy, confident, 3 retired professional to someone who was willing -- 4 I'm sorry, someone who was unwilling and unable to 5 make a decision. She lost her willingness to 6 travel, explore and enjoy life. I miss her spirit.
7 I know she is unable to reclaim it.

8           A letter from V.L. reads:

9           My life has been turned upside-down by the 10 experience of this case. As a nurse, my life was 11 based on trust, truthfulness and service to others.
12 Now I'm left feeling betrayed by it all. I found 13 myself distrustful of others, avoiding social 14 contact of all kind. My free time was spent doing 15 artwork, painting canvasses, decorative art and 16 painting of murals. I no longer feel motivated to 17 do these activities. Financially living in near 18 poverty, very limited ability to afford more than 19 necessities, not the life I worked to build and 20 maintain. I must admit I feel rage and anger for 21 those who chose to strip away the lives of others
22 through their greed.

23           Victim V.B. lost and restitution will be 24 ordered for V.B. in the amount of $101,900; victim
25 K.E. suffered a loss of $29,000; and Victim V.L.

1 suffered a loss of $308,016.66; and the amounts
2 that K.E. and V.L. lost will also be ordered as 3 restitution.

4 All right. Mr. Patel, as I explained to 5 you previously, this is your opportunity to tell me
6 what it is you want me to know as I consider what 7 are the appropriate sentence to impose, a sentence
8 sufficient, but not greater than necessary, to 9 accomplish the goals of sentencing.

10 THE DEFENDANT: This is my newspaper
11 article in India, 2007. In that also with honesty 12 and hard working. That's what my philosophy of 13 life is. And that is written on the dollars only.

14 And second thing, I wrote a letter to the 15 Prime Minister of India. I will return letter to 16 my embassy, United, Washington, D.C., White House,
17 news message from American media, CNN news media, 18 and the Indian media. And all those places, what 19 they were -- catch them, whatever I could do, I 20 have done my efforts to catch them. The person is 21 sitting in India, he's the son of a politician and 22 that the -- my Prime Minister and that political 23 group that person is.

24 THE INTERPRETER: Okay. Yeah. Because
25 Judge needs to listen to what I am telling, okay?

1           THE DEFENDANT: Whatever I could do, I've 2 done all my efforts to catch them because I want to 3 give full justice to these ladies, and I want to 4 return the money to those ladies.

5           The guy who is sitting in Atlanta, my 6 cousin, he's not picking up my phone itself. They 7 killed my mother. My children's future has been 8 ruined by them. I am also a family person, and I
9 understand that, and I promise that, and -- and -- 10 and, if they can be caught, if any honest officer
11 is there then; and if nothing -- if nothing
12 happens, then I'm ready to sell my body, and I want 13 to give money to -- return the money back to them.

14           But I can give them the confidence that I
15 do not belong to this gang, and I am not a member 16 of them; and in this laws and the constitutional
17 provisions, I am ready to do whatever -- even if I 18 get killed or I die, I'm ready to do that.
19 Everything has been finished for my life. My house
20 is ruined. So whatever you ask me to do, I am 21 ready to follow your instructions.

22           And -- and -- and -- and I called the 23 Indian Embassy and I give all the details, and you
24 can ask the Indian Embassy what I told them, all 25 the details; and whatever you instruct me, I'm

1 ready to do that. I am going to give my life, but 2 I won't leave them alone. So for $400 my life has 3 been finished.

4 I would sell off my body and give money
5 back to them, and you've got all the evidence there
6 is, all the papers. You got all the evidence. I
7 just need one -- I need one, one honest officer;
8 and I'll return the letter to the FBI chief
9 general. He is a person I wrote to help me, sir.

10 Whatever is your decision and the justice, 11 I'm ready to accept it. My -- from my side, my 12 defense lawyer never told them that this man is 13 ready to help them to catch those people. There is 14 no -- not a single evidence has been given to the 15 jury from my side. My father is 80 years old, and 16 is on -- today he is giving free services to 17 elderly homes. My father is a rickshaw driver, and 18 he's giving free services to the old people. There 19 is no bad reputation about me in India. There is 20 not a single traffic ticket I have been given. I 21 have driven 9 million miles in India, and there is 22 not a single crime committed there. I'm ready to 23 sacrifice my life, but I won't live any one of 24 them. I need one help, just one honest officer.
25 I'm not making any jokes, sir. My mother died ten

1 months back until I'm not able to talk to my 2 family. My wife's phone has been turned off.

3 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

4 THE DEFENDANT: I have been trapped into 5 these people -- by these people. I'm giving 6 promise to this country. Whatever it will be for,
7 I will do for this country.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

9 Counsel, argument?

10 MS. FRETHER: I'm -- this is one of those 11 cases I seem to have in front of you a fair amount 12 where I'm relieved that it's the Court's decision, 13 not mine, to decide on an appropriate sentence.
14 This Court has spent a lot of time with Mr. Patel 15 both pretrial, during the trial, and I think is 16 well versed and well aware of what Mr. Patel's 17 circumstances are. He was on the stand, I think, 18 for at least three hours, maybe more.

19 And in terms of 3553(a) factors, the Court
20 is aware that Mr. Patel has been locked up for two 21 years not speaking the language. The letters that 22 the Court has received, it's my opinion, and based 23 on conversation, that other detainees have helped 24 or assisted Mr. Patel with those, that those aren't 25 his exact words. He speaks with a lot of

1 hyperbole, and that's not contained necessarily in 2 those letters, there's different handwriting. His 3 English has improved in those two years, but it's 4 still very limited in that when we have 5 conversations -- folks who speak two languages 6 sometimes will start answering me back before the 7 interpreter. Mr. Patel rarely, if ever, does that.

8 So I believe that he's tried to express to 9 the Court again today that he feels very badly for 10 these ladies. He said that he will give up his 11 body and organ donation to pay the restitution.
12 He's consistently offered to meet with the 13 Government or sit down with the Government.
14 Unfortunately, as time has gone on, his information 15 that he would have isn't helpful, and there's not 16 within the -- within the rubric of sentencing and 17 the benefit from that, Mr. Patel has to accept 18 responsibility. We had a trial and the Court has 19 listened to him testify and knows where that's at.

20 I think that the Government would agree,
21 and they can speak for themselves, Mr. Patel didn't 22 financially benefit from this. The money went 23 somewhere else. He was living very modestly and 24 working. He didn't have a fancy car or a fancy 25 residence. There's no indication that he was

1     laundering Bitcoin or hundreds of thousands of 2     dollars through his U.S. accounts and that he was 3     not an organizer, leader of this scheme.

4             The Government's sentencing memo lays out 5     good arguments for both general and specific 6     deterrence. These kinds of scams are horrific.
7     They're horrific generally; but they are also 8     horrific when perpetrated by folks outside of the 9     United States because it makes it incredibly 10    unlikely that we're able to recover any restitution 11    at all, and that -- just the vast scale of it, that 12    there is a need for general deterrence as part of a 13    sentencing consideration in that non-U.S. residents
14    should not be imported, essentially, to carry out
15    fraudulent schemes and that there has to be a 16    deterrent generally to say to people back in India,
17    or elsewhere, don't come to the United States to do
18    this because you will end up with a prison 19    sentence.

20            I don't know what, though, in our national 21    conversation and as it relates to Mr. Patel, I 22    don't know what that number is. As page 13 of the 23    PSR points out, to keep Mr. Patel incarcerated in 24    the Bureau of Prisons according to the AO estimate 25    will cost approximately $51,711 a year. So that's

1 $600,000 for, what is it, for 12 years which is, I
2 think, what the Government is asking, which is more
3 than the total amount of restitution in this case.

4 When part of the goal of sentencing is 5 rehabilitation, reintegration into the community,
6 which are good and lofty goals of incarceration, 7 Mr. Patel is likely, upon his release, to be 8 deported, and so he could contribute based on 9 rehabilitation to the world, but he's not going to 10 be contributing that rehabilitation to the United 11 States at the cost of $57,000 per year. I don't 12 know -- what the Court gets to do -- what the 13 balance is between the cost of incarceration, the 14 cost of keeping him here year after year after year 15 versus deportation. The current national 16 conversation seems to be deportation is preferable 17 than keeping people in this country, seems to be 18 part of the, sort of, national conversation that's 19 gone on since change of administration in January.
20 Mr. Patel has been cut off from his family and has 21 suffered great distress as this Court has seen, so
22 he's been incarcerated for two years. I don't know 23 a number for how much more that would be.

24 The Government is asking for sentence that 25 is significantly higher than the guidelines. The

1 guidelines are high as they are anyway because 2 special sentencing factors, such as, vulnerable 3 victims, the huge amount of loss have been baked in 4 to the guideline calculation. If the victims were 5 differently situated, if they didn't suffer 6 significant financial hardship, all those kind of 7 things, the guidelines would be lower, and the 8 Court would be looking at a less range. So to 9 advocate that this sentence should be so far above
10 the guidelines based on the idea of general
11 deterrence, as it relates to Mr. Patel, who is not 12 an organizer, leader, or in charge and did not 13 substantially benefit financially from this, seems 14 excessive.

15 Mr. Patel would like to go home, and he 16 was unable to, though, plead guilty and say that he 17 committed a crime, and I think that he sincerely
18 believes that he was a courier and that he did not 19 intend to defraud these ladies out of all of this 20 money, but this is one of those knew or should have 21 known, sort of, cases that based on all the 22 circumstances, that the types of folks that were 23 giving him money and the circumstances and,
24 certainly after the stop in Wisconsin, that that 25 maybe should have been enough.

1           So we leave it to the Court to have mercy
2           and consider all of the factors and the need for 3           both specific and general deterrence. Mr. Patel
4           isn't going to do this again. He suffered enough.
5           So I think the specific deterrence is satisfied by 6           the two years that he's been incarcerated in the 7           county jail. Thank you.

8           THE COURT: Thank you.

9           MR. REED: I'll step up here so the 10          interpreter can hear me.

11          Judge, as defense counsel said, the 12          Government is asking for a sentence of 144 months, 13          which is 33 percent above the high end of the 14          guidelines and comparable to what has been imposed 15          in similar sentences both in this district and 16          nationwide, and just three points under the 3553(a) 17          factors in support of that.

18          First, Mr. Patel chose a side, and he 19          chose the side of the fraudsters and criminals, and 20          the fraudsters and criminals who prey on some of 21          the most vulnerable people in our society. It's 22          not an exaggeration to say that this case is about 23          two Americas, right? The defendant chose a side 24          when he came to the United States illegally. From 25          there, he made his way to Atlanta to meet up with

1 his cousin and his coconspirator Danny, and then
2 moved to Chicago because that's where he could get 3 a driver's license so he could start committing the 4 fraud; and even at that early point -- there's 5 really two possibilities.

6 Option one is that Patel came to the U.S., 7 and he went to his cousin Danny because he 8 specifically came here to commit this fraud, and 9 there's some indicators of that here. He's a 10 family member, he's entrusted by these criminals
11 with large sums of money. Sometimes these runners, 12 they work in pairs because of a lack of trust, 13 hundreds of thousands of dollars at issue here, but 14 Mr. Patel was trusted to work alone. He's not 15 badgered even when he has hundreds of thousands of 16 dollars sitting in his back seat because he is a 17 family member and a trusted coconspirator.

18 The second option, even at this early 19 point, is the story Patel told the agents, that at 20 the very beginning he told his cousin Danny he 21 wouldn't do this kind of work because he knew it 22 was wrong. Even early on, "I won't do this kind of 23 wrong. I do anything else. I won't do that 24 package work because I know it's wrong."

25 Either way he knew what he was doing was

1 wrong from the very beginning. He chose the side
2 again when he began taking money from the victim,
3 and we heard from the victim. We know what he saw.
4 He saw elderly women. He saw that they had to come
5 to him. It smelled bad in a hundred different 6 ways. There's an elderly lady at an assisted 7 living facility using a walker on oxygen carrying a 8 box of gold bars. There isn't a language issue.
9 It looks like crime anywhere. That's what it looks 10 like, but he chose to keep doing that.

11 He drove hundreds of miles to keep doing 12 it. He had them come to him. He parked out in the 13 street after dark. He's scared. Multiple victims 14 testified about how he would turn his head so they 15 couldn't see his face. The victim in Wisconsin 16 talked about how she couldn't find the car because 17 it was parked across the street, down the street, 18 and the lights weren't on because he didn't want to 19 be caught. She had to call the coconspirator and 20 say, "I can't find the car," and only then did he 21 flash the lights so she could even find the car.
22 These are abundant signs of a guilty conscious from 23 the very start.

24 And then Mr. Patel chose a side when he 25 was stopped in Wisconsin and questioned by

1 officers. If there's a come to Jesus moment in 2 this chain of events, it's that time. Officers ask
3 him, "Why are you here?" And the answer is, "I 4 came here to play music." That was a lie. When 5 they pushed past that story, "Who sent you here to 6 take the box from this woman?" "Well, I don't 7 know. I just heard from them the last day or two."
8 That was a lie. It was his own cousin, Danny, the 9 one he had been living with. It was his friend 10 Abhishek back in India. Those were the people that 11 sent him there. He knew that, and he knew at that 12 point that they were victimizing these women. He 13 chose not to tell the officers that. He chose not 14 to tell them that he had been to that same house a 15 week before. He didn't tell them about the victim 16 in Indiana. He made a choice, he chose a side, and 17 he chose the side of the fraudsters.

18 Now, after Wisconsin, just four months
19 before he starts doing it again, he's laying low.
20 Where is he? Is he at the address in Illinois that 21 he gave to the officers in Wisconsin? No. He ran 22 right back to his fellow criminals in Atlanta and 23 is staying there.

24 And briefly, right here, I'd like to 25 address a couple points about financial benefit.

1 Sure, Patel wasn't the one with hundreds of 2 thousands of dollars in his pocket, but he did 3 financially benefit. He took a cut, he took his 4 own cut out of the boxes, and the fact that he took 5 his cut out of box that these women were giving him
6 shows him he knew exactly what was going on. This 7 isn't moving a package. You don't take a cut --
8 you know, if I order ten widgets from Amazon, I
9 don't take two of them out as payment to deliver 10 it. He knew exactly what was going on, and he took 11 his cut.

12 And his financial benefit went well past
13 that, right? He's new in the country. He gets a 14 driver's license; he gets a car that was being paid
15 for by Danny -- he testified to that -- he gets a 16 place to live and lay low when he's in Atlanta and 17 he gets a job. He gets all these things. There's 18 an enormous benefit that goes well beyond the cash
19 that he took out of the box, and I think that's 20 important here.

21 So going back to Mr. Patel's choices, he 22 lays low for four months and he makes another 23 choice. He goes back to Chicago, and he keeps 24 doing the same thing. And again, when you pull up 25 in front of a house, you're doing the same thing,

1 you see another old woman come out of the house
2 with a box, you know exactly what's going on. You 3 know you're doing the same thing again, and he 4 chose to keep doing it. He picked a side, and he 5 picked a side over and over again, and that shows 6 what side he picked. So to come here at 7 sentencing, to come here today, and say I'm not a
8 part of this; of course, you're a part of this; you 9 chose to be a part of this over and over again; and 10 the question here today is as having chosen to be a 11 part of this, what should be the consequences?

12 So defense counsel talked briefly about 13 the cost of incarceration, and I'd say a couple 14 things about this. First, as she said, Mr. Patel 15 wants to go back to India. Deportation now is 16 rewarding this behavior. It's the opposite of 17 deterrence, right? It's if you go over, you get 18 caught, you get sent back, you're fine, no big 19 deal, we're going to cut you loose. That's a 20 problem. That's a huge deterrence problem to have 21 that -- to take that approach.

22 And the other side of this is if a U.S.
23 citizen were here and did these same acts, he or 24 she would go to prison and go to prison for a long
25 time, and there's a question about whether we're --

1 whether we're treating Patel better than an 2 American who would have committed the same acts if 3 we are not giving him the same prison sentence.

4 So let's talk about the other side of the 5 victims, and, Judge, I was going to read the victim
6 impact statements, but you already have so I won't.
7 Given their age and their geographic distance, it
8 was difficult to get them here for trial, let alone 9 back for sentencing. One thing we received -- we 10 received that second victim impact statement
11 yesterday, and the reason is because that victim,
12 her phone doesn't receive calls. She turned it off 13 so she can only make calls and can't receive calls.
14 She doesn't trust people. It's a great irony in 15 these cases that we, as prosecutors, and agents, as 16 law enforcement, just deal with incredible
17 roadblocks in reaching victims because they don't 18 trust anybody who comes to them saying that they're 19 law enforcement. They don't take phone calls.
20 They don't answer the door because they have lost 21 trust in the society around them.

22 So the victims -- you read the numbers,
23 you read the victim impact statement. Victim V.L.
24 was a retired nurse, she moved from Arizona to 25 Indiana, and was staying at the assisted living

1 facility there at Christina House. She lost over 2 $300,000. Victim K.E. in Merrill, Wisconsin, she 3 worked at a 3M plant for many years and then hung 4 wallpaper before retiring. She lost a lot of 5 money. Victim V.B. was a SIUE physics professor, 6 she was chair of the physics department, who lived 7 in Edwardsville, and the impact on these 8 individuals, it goes far beyond financial. It's 9 the psychological impact of what this scheme did to 10 them.

11 The conspirators carefully isolated them
12 by staying on the phone all the time, by making 13 sure they didn't tell anybody, by threatening them 14 with prosecution of their friends and family if 15 they did tell them what was going on, by having 16 them drive all over the place to use these Bitcoin 17 machines.

18 One thing I find very telling in this case
19 is only one of the three victims was able to figure 20 out how to use a Bitcoin machine, and that's why 21 folks like Mr. Patel are so essential to this 22 scheme's success. At the end of the text messages
23 with the Edwardsville victim, she says a few things 24 that I think are very telling of her mindset at 25 that point. She says, "I'd be better off behind

1 bars." She says, "I'm home and not looking forward
2 to anything." That's where she was at; and when 3 her daughter sent that victim impact statement, she 4 said, "It's hard to convey what has been lost as 5 the scam precipitated her total loss of self." I 6 think that accurately summarizes the impact of this 7 scam on these victims. It's hard to -- it's hard 8 to put into words. It's enormous.

9 So Section 3553(a) entrusts this Court to 10 impose a sentence that reflects the seriousness of 11 the offense and its impact on the victims to 12 community, and there is just no doubt that that 13 calls for an above-guideline sentence here.

14 Section 3553(a) also instructs the Court
15 to look at deterrence and the need to protect the 16 public from future crimes, and I lay this out in 17 the memo, so I'll be brief, but I'd cite an 18 article, it's called, "Imposter Scams" by Professor 19 Freeman, where he describes these imposter scams as 20 public enemy number one. This is the most common 21 type of consumer fraud against Americans surpassing 22 even identity theft now, and this is only going to 23 increase more as baby boomers retire, age and 24 become more susceptible to these type of schemes.
25 It's not a surprise that this has taken off just as

1 baby boomers hit their 70s and 80s. There's an 2 enormous jump if you look at the FTC data at 2014
3 and 2015 and this is just sky rocketing. And why?
4 Because you have more victims with easy access 5 through the Internet and through phones to be 6 scammed like this. In 2024 alone, the FTC received 7 845,806 reports about imposter scams. That's 8 people like these victims. As I said in the memo, 9 that's filling Busch Stadium 19 days in a row, and 10 that's just one year.

11 THE COURT: Which the Cardinals can't do
12 this year.

13 MR. REED: Which the Cardinals can't do
14 this season. Perhaps I should've just used Notre 15 Dame stadium and said nine or ten days, but it's 16 just an incredible number, 845,000, $2.95
17 billion in fraud -- billion dollars in fraud 18 annually, just incredible numbers; and this is the 19 kind of case where deterrence, this makes a huge 20 difference; even a little bit would make a big 21 difference; and there's reasons, I think, to think 22 here that deterrence is particularly important.

23 And, again, this is laid out in the 24 sentencing memo, but what you need here is a choke 25 point. A choke point for this scheme is people on

1 the ground in the U.S. It's easy to scam someone
2 from India, but it's a lot harder to get the money
3 if there's not someone not here willing to take it
4 out of their hands. We know that from what we saw 5 here. Only one of the victims was able to figure 6 out how to use the Bitcoin machine. The other two, 7 they needed someone they trusted to go to their 8 house, look them in the eye, and take their money 9 from them. That person was the defendant here; and 10 if we can prevent the next Nirav Patel from being 11 willing to engage in this scam through deterrence, 12 that's a huge, huge deal when it comes to 13 protecting victims.

14 There's good reason to think that that 15 choke point is important. We can see that here.
16 They're necessary to the scheme's success, as I 17 just said. They're a scarce resource. Patel was 18 covering a three-state range: Wisconsin, Indiana,
19 all the way down here to St. Louis. It's a 240 20 mile-circle big. It's a big area where they had 21 one guy. If he wasn't there, they would have 22 stopped with the Bitcoin.

23 And I think there's an amplified
24 deterrence message here. You have a proud
25 Indian-American immigrant community. If you look

1 at the citations in the footnotes, these cases are 2 covered closely for that very reason. They all 3 know and amplify the deterrent message that this 4 Court wants to send through the media. That's the 5 way this works. You reach the people who need to 6 hear it, and you do that through general
7 deterrence.

8 So for all these reasons, we're asking for 9 a sentence of 144 months, which is 33 percent above 10 the guideline range, with 6 months concurrent on 11 the immigration count. As I said, this is very 12 similar to Judge Dugan's departure in a similar 13 case, which was affirmed on appeal, because of the 14 victim impact.

15 THE COURT: Wasn't his sentence 72 months?

16 MR. REED: It was a different -- it was a
17 different month number. He varied 40 percent up,
18 however, Judge; and the guidelines are there for a 19 reason, right, because the guidelines reflect other 20 factors in this case that were not present in that 21 case. Not only a dollar figure but acceptance,
22 obstruction, and a number of other factors. So a
23 similar percentage increase here, I think, is more 24 than warranted for that reason.

25 THE COURT: So Mr. Patel has said in court

1 here today, in open court previously, that he would 2 be happy to cooperate, to assist the Government in 3 catching the people that he thinks are more
4 culpable than he. What would be the procedure, 5 going forward, if he were to cooperate and provide 6 substantial assistance?

7 MR. REED: Judge, there was a time for 8 that and this isn't it. The time for that was two 9 years ago when he was arrested, and I can tell you 10 why. There's a finding in the PSR and adopted by 11 this Court that Mr. Patel took the stand and lied.
12 He's worthless as a witness. I can't use him. I 13 can't put someone on the stand who chose to take 14 the stand, lie to this Court about his own role, 15 and leading to a finding of obstruction of justice.
16 I can't use him as a witness, credible witness, in 17 front of a jury. I wish I could.

18 THE COURT: Counsel?

19 MS. FRETER: I'll pick off with Judge
20 Dugan's case. I think that citing to this Court 21 the idea that under certain circumstances it is not 22 error to go above -- or a certain percentage above
23 a guideline sentence is fine; but as this Court 24 knows, each case has its own specific things and 25 that, as the Government just said, the factors in

1 this case, vulnerable victim, substantial hardship,
2 those are baked into these guidelines where maybe 3 they weren't in Judge Dugan's case, but those 4 considerations are already baked in, and that's the 5 amount of loss. That's why the guidelines are 6 high.

7 In terms of a deterrent, 87 to 108 months
8 is the guideline sentence. That is a significant 9 time in the Bureau of Prisons, it's not a slap on 10 wrist, it's not probation, it's not you did your 11 two years in the county jail; go back to india.
12 That's a lot of time. Even a 60-month sentence, 13 five years, is a substantial time.

14 In term of a deterrence, the perception
15 that people who, quote/unquote, "commit white 16 collar crime" just get probation or they go to club
17 fed or something like that, that's not Mr. Patel's 18 situation. He's not going to be -- based on the 19 amount of loss and all of the circumstances, you 20 know, a guideline sentence is significant, it's not 21 minimal, and because the circumstances of this case 22 as they relate to Mr. Patel are baked into the 23 guidelines, a 30 percent above-guideline sentence
24 is -- based on the idea that these scams hurt 25 people, which they do -- crime hurts people. We

1 have the death penalty as a deterrent; still, we 2 have murders. I mean, it's -- a prison sentence in 3 BOP, under all of these circumstances, even a
4 guideline sentence, is significant. It is a 5 specific and general deterrent, and it reflects the 6 seriousness of the offense.

7 There is nothing Mr. Patel can do at this 8 point to make these ladies whole. The harm is 9 done. It is irreparable. After the sentencing, to 10 the extent that the Government wanted to listen to 11 him, he would be able to talk to them, which might 12 make him feel better, but, you know, his 13 information is stale; and as the Government said,
14 they can't use him as a witness. Any search
15 warrant would have to give -- would have to include 16 that there's been an obstruction finding based on 17 that, so it hurts them in terms of future
18 prosecution. Not to say that they couldn't use the 19 information to do something, but it's unlikely to 20 result in a sentencing Rule 35 or other matter.

21 So again we ask the Court to, as it always 22 does, consider Mr. Patel and the 3553(a) factors as 23 they relate to him and his specific circumstances 24 and his specific factors in sentencing.

25 THE COURT: Mr. Patel, I've given you a

1 chance to address the Court; and from the 2 beginning, you've maintained your innocence. From 3 the beginning, you've told me that you were,
4 essentially, an unwitting participant in this.
5 That's a lie. You were on the cell phone 6 constantly telling the scammers where you were,
7 sending them pictures of what your MapQuest was 8 showing, where you were, how much longer. When you 9 picked up the money, you sent photos showing that 10 you picked up the money, lots of money, gold bars.

11 Now, these scammers had this incredibly 12 sophisticated plan, and what you want me to believe 13 is they're going to take some down-on-his-luck
14 impoverished guy and say drive there, pick up all 15 this cash and then don't flee with it; don't say,
16 hell, I'm going to drive to California, I don't 17 have to give it to these people. They knew you so 18 well that once you sent them pictures that you had 19 the money, they didn't ask you are you en route
20 back to give us the money, they didn't ask you show
21 us where you are, show us you're going to Chicago
22 as opposed to Miami Beach. You knew where to go.
23 There's no communication to say show up at this 24 address and give it to the guy wearing a brown hat.
25 You knew exactly where to go, you knew exactly who

1 to give it to, and when you were asked about all 2 that, you were purposely evasive.

3 Your comment to your cousin Danny is 4 telling. You didn't want to do the package stuff 5 because that's the guy that gets caught, that's the 6 guy that gets left holding the bag. You did it
7 anyway. You made repeated references to your sick
8 mother and your family, and I think it's reasonable 9 to conclude that you had the expectation that the 10 people in India were going to be providing money to 11 your spouse to pay for your children, to pay for 12 your mom's surgery, and, ironically, they have 13 abandoned you. They have abandoned you, and so 14 they have scammed you like you scammed these 15 victims.

16 You know who these people are, and you 17 knew who the victims were to be, and you knew how 18 vulnerable they were, and you didn't care. You 19 asked me for mercy that you did not extend to these 20 poor people.

21 No, sir. You were allowed to address the 22 Court. You have sent me letters. We are beyond 23 that stage. For the record, he was raising his 24 hand wanting to speak.

25 There's a lot of truth to the Government's

1 argument that these very sophisticated,
2 international scams need one thing for them to pull 3 it off, to be successful, they needed the guys like 4 you. I will go hundreds of miles, pick up the 5 money, I will drive it back to god knows where to 6 give it to the people who are part of this scam.
7 You're not going to give all that money to a 8 stranger, because, if you were, you would have just 9 kept it yourself. So the fact that your fellow 10 conspirators have abandoned you and, no doubt, 11 laugh that poor Nirav has to pay the price when 12 they got all the money, but you're going to have to 13 pay the price.

14 I find the Government's recommendation of 15 144 months appropriate. I'm going to sentence you 16 to prison for 144 months on Counts 1, 2, 3 and 4.
17 Those terms will run concurrent with each other.
18 With respect to Count 5, I'll impose a term of 19 three months, but I will run that concurrent with 20 the sentence for Counts 1 through 4. I'm not going 21 to impose any supervised release because I
22 anticipate you will be deported to India upon 23 serving your time in prison. I am not going to 24 impose a fine. I am going to order a restitution
25 in the total amount of $438,916.66, and I'm going

1 to order that you pay a special assessment of $100
2 on counts -- each count of 1 through 4 and a $10
3 assessment on Count 5 for a total guideline -- a 4 total special assessment of $410.

5 This is a terrible crime, and that's the 6 problem with being part of a conspiracy. When 7 you're part of this conspiracy, you're responsible 8 for the worst part of it. If this is were a bank
9 robbery and you said I'll be the escape driver, 10 I'll wait out in the car, if one of your 11 conspirators shoots the bank teller and kills her,
12 that's the felony murder rule. You can be charged 13 with her murder because you were part of a crime.

14 This is -- it's a tough sentence. I
15 understand that. It's a tough sentence for a very 16 terrible crime.

17 You have the right to appeal your 18 conviction. You have the right to appeal your 19 sentence if you believe it was illegally or 20 incorrectly imposed. You can appeal your 21 conviction -- I'm sorry. Any notice of appeal must 22 be filed within 14 days of the entry of a judgment 23 or within 14 days of the filing of a notice of 24 appeal by the Government. If requested, the clerk 25 will prepare and file a notice of appeal on your

1       behalf. If you cannot afford to pay the cost of an 2       appeal or for appellate counsel, you have the right
3       to apply for leave to appeal in forma pauperis.
4       That means that your financial situation is such 5       that you don't have the money to pay for an appeal,
6       and it would be unfair to try to force you to come
7       up with money to vindicate your rights. On appeal,
8       -- I'm sorry. You can apply for leave to file
9       appeal in forma pauperis, which means you can apply
10      to have the Court waive the filing fee. On appeal 11      you may also apply for court-appointed counsel.

12               This is a sentence in which you lose just 13      about everything, but it's the sentence you imposed 14      on the victims of this crime.

15               So anything else for the Government?

16               MR. REED: No, Judge.

17               THE COURT: Anything else for defense?

18               MS. FRETER: No, Your Honor.

19               THE COURT: Oh, there is a pending Madison 20      County case. Do we have any understanding of 21      what's going to happen because --

22               MR. REED: I will alert Madison County of 23      the sentencing today.

24               THE COURT: All right. Because this -- it
25      arises out of the charges -- I mean, it's the same

1 set of circumstances that was part of the 2 case-in-chief presented in this case.

3 MR. REED: Yes, sir.

4 THE COURT: Anything else for the 5 defendant?

6 MS. FRETER: No, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: It's a sad day for you,
8 Mr. Patel, I understand that, but it is a just 9 result.
